Class Play Competition Monday & Thursday

Knights Face Norwich Away; Purple Out to Revenge Defeat

After a two week layoff the Purple Knights move to Northfield, Vt., this afternoon to play the Mountaineers of Norwich University in a Vermont Conference Football game. The Knights will be looking for their fifth victory of the season and will be out to avenge last year's 13 to 0 defeat at the hands of the Cadets.

The Cadets have had a rough time of it this season. In seven previous games they've managed to win just one. That was an upset victory over the University of Massachusetts that was made possible by the brilliant playing of their highly touted freshmen. However, the freshmen are ineligible to compete in Conference games so they won't be in action this afternoon against the Knights. In their other six games the Cadets have taken it on the chin from Williams, Trinity, UVM, Coast Guard, Middlebury, and St. Lawrence.

The Mountaineers have been plagued by injuries all season. The injuries reached their peak last week when two more players were forced to give up football for the season. The biggest blow was the news that first string quarterback Mel Damon has to undergo a serious knee operation. Damon was the ace punter for Norwich and Coach Jack Heffernan has been hard put to find a suitable replacement who is not a freshman. In the line there are three players who will see only limited action in today's game because of injuries.

The brunt of the backfield duties will fall to Nick Psalides, Jack A'Hearn and Mike DelNigro. Psalides is the leading Norwich ground gainer while A'Hearn and DelNigro have shown signs of developing into consistent runners. The punting duties will probably be shared by A'Hearn and Co-captain Mike Malley. Malley will also do most of the Cadets passing as their ace in that department, Jake O'Connor is sidelined with a broken jaw.

Up front Norwich will field a line, led by Co-captain Hal Lait, that averages about 180 pounds, but here too the Cadets have a severe shortage of first string subs.

On the other hand the Knights

Interclass play competition will be held November 15 and 18 in Austin Hall in conjunction with the President's Day celebration.

Freshmen and seniors will perform first with a comedy "When Shakespeare's Gentlemen Get Together" by Charles George offered by the former, while the latter follow thru with the Catholic miracle drama, "Lucifer at Large", by Francis Ford.

On the 18 the sophomores will show the Eugene O'Neill drama, "Ile," and the juniors production will be a farce, "And the Villain Still Pursued Her."

DIRECTORS NAMED

Fr. McIssac and Fr. Tining are slated as moderators for the Frosh and the Juniors respectively, and Fr. Dube and Fr. Paulin for the others.

From the Knights and Knaves, Freshman Ed O'Gorman and Roland Peloquin, Sophs, Harold Thomas and Dick Wall, Juniors, Don Gibbons, Paul Mitchell and Lawrence Nuccio, Seniors, Vin Lawless and Lindley Jackson will direct their class plays.

The casting is to be done on a class-wide basis; anyone may participate.

This event inaugurated last year proved successful and entertaining and was climaxed by the seniors winning first prize on the verdict of several local judges.

Fr. Lyons will choose this year's judges sometime this month. The prize, yet to be selected, is hoped to exceed last year's - which was nothing.

CORCORAN MAY 8 GEN'L CHAIRMAN

James C. Corcoran will be general chairman of the May 8 weekend this year. Corcoran, West Springfield, Mass., was chosen by the Senior Class to have complete charge of the big weekend of the college year.

Corcoran is a graduate of Cathedral High School where he achieved four year honors and was assistant editor of The Chronicle, the high school newspaper. He was also a member of the golf and hockey teams in high school.

At St. Michael's College he has been on the Dean's List and active in the Biology and Debating Clubs and is an associate editor of The Shield, college year book.

Corcoran is a veteran of World War II serving with the Navy in the European, Pacific and American Theaters.

EXCHANGE PAPERS

The Circulation Department of The Michaelman has adapted an exchange shelf in the college library during the past week.

The exchange shelf will be found in the rear of the library so that Michaelmen may keep informed of the various activities of other colleges and universities.

The papers may not be removed from the library and must be returned to the shelves when finished reading them.

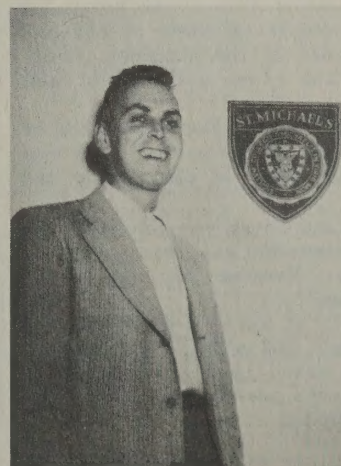

President To Be Honored On Tuesday At Banquet

Very Rev. Daniel P. Lyons and Fr. Raymond Poirier, SSE, celebrant and master of ceremonies respectively, in Austin Hall at last year's President's Day celebration of the Solemn High Mass. This scene will be revived this Tuesday in Austin Hall.

Tuesday, November 16, marks an important day in the college calendar. It is the traditional feast day of Saint Edmund of Canterbury, patron saint of the society which conducts St. Michael's College.

Contois Heads Juniors at St. Michael's

Omer Contois of New Britain, Conn. will be president of the junior class at St. Michael's College this year.

Others elected this week were:

Ed Casey, Thompsonville, Conn., vice president; William Ford, Slingerlands, N. Y., secretary; Ted Ziter, North Adams, Mass., treasurer.

The six nominees for Student Activities Council are:

Jack Daly, Floral Park, N.Y.; Art Fraser, Rumford, Maine; Rob Knight, Turners Falls, Mass.; Paul Lapointe, Fall River, Mass.; Jeremiah Frank Regan, Long Branch, N. J.; Jack Scully, Hastings-on-Hudson, N. Y.

The Michaelman extends deepest sympathy to Peter Troy, member of the Junior Class, on the death of his mother during the past week.

By BOB LILLY

Known as President's Day, November 16, is traditionally a holiday and day of activity. As in past years, the highlight of the day, will be a Solemn High Mass celebrated by the college president, followed by a reception for the president and faculty in the new library, a student reception in Austin Hall, a banquet at noon, solemn benediction, and Frosh Skits, presented by the Freshman Class that night.

MASS FIRST

At 9 the day's program will open with Solemn High Mass being celebrated in Austin Hall. The faculty, students, and faculty wives are cordially invited.

Very Rev. Daniel P. Lyons, President of St. Michael's, will be celebrant while Rev. Vincent Maloney will be Deacon and Rev. Gerald Dupont, Sub-Deacon. Rev. Raymond Poirier will act as Master of Ceremonies.

The sermon will be delivered by Rev. Dr. Lorenzo D'Agostino, Dean of Men. The College Choir under the direction of Rev. Laurence Boucher, will chant the Missa Solemnis, by Pietro Yon, accompanied by organist, William Spear.

At 10 - there will be a faculty reception in the library.

At 11 the students will again convene in Austin Hall for the traditional reception for the president. Mario A. Marini, president of the senior class, will represent the students in a congratulatory speech to the president. Fr. Lyons will respond. Also included in the program at this time will be the first appearance of the college band under the direction of Orville Goodrow, instructor in the classics and wizard on the key board.

Double Celebration

This coming Tuesday will be President's Day as it is traditionally known at St. Michael's. Liturgically, it is the Feast of St. Edmund, Archbishop of Canterbury and Patron of the order which conducts St. Michael's.

It is a double celebration, one to honor the Patron of the order and the other to pay our respects to our beloved president, the Very Rev. Daniel P. Lyons. Classes will be suspended for the day and a full program, outlined elsewhere in the paper, will command the attention of all.

Even if it is a holiday and the temptation to steal away from the varied activities in this fine fall weather is strong, no Michaelman who understands the real meaning of the day will need the suggestion that all of us should attend.

We who have been given the opportunity to come to St. Michael's owe a debt not only to the Fathers of St. Edmund, but also to the intelligent perseverance and planning of Father Lyons, through whose work a great deal of the present day St. Michael's College was made possible.

St. Michael's could easily have remained at its prewar enrollment of 200, but Father Lyons and his brother priests in religion recognized the need and took action to make available to a larger number the invaluable kind of education for which St. Michael's has been noted.

We men of St. Michael's will be glad to pay our respects on this coming holiday. And we of The Michaelman extend our own best wishes for the order's encouragement of our student paper.

One Prime Duty

Now that all the classes have completed their elections, there remains one prime duty for all of the students. Leaders have been chosen to direct the class activities, and these men deserve support.

From the editorial chair, it would appear that wise choices have been made. Even if this did not appear so, no objection could be possible, since there was plenty of campaigning and the classes have spoken.

Just as in the national elections there was considerable "moaning at the bar," there undoubtedly will be people who cannot understand all the choices. However, the non-voters have no one but themselves to blame.

The men now in office have plenty of work to do. It is up, not only to those who elected them, but also to all members to follow through when they are asked to help. That's the only kind of cooperation that gives our type of elections their fullest, most democratic meaning.

NFCCS Campaign

NFCCS once again will launch another campaign on campus as part of its overall yearly activity. In some future edition of The Michaelman there will appear a Radio Acceptance Poll blank. Last year at the national convention of NFCCS it was decided that such a poll would be conducted to arrive at some definite conclusion as to the taste of the Catholic College students.

We of the NFCCS hope that by such a poll pressure may be brought to bear upon our leading networks to produce programs of higher calibre than are at the present time being given. As future Catholic laymen it is up to us now as Catholic College students to let the backers of radio and the general public know how we feel about the type of programs being sponsored today.

The polls will be printed in The Michaelman and a student will be assigned to each dorm on the campus to collect them. It is hoped that all students will cooperate as this type of endeavour is the first of its kind to be conducted on the Purple campus.

HILL WIND

John Medrek and Chub Helfrich

The presentation of the views in this column do not infer that the students of St. Michael's are "women-haters" but rather to signify as the saying goes, "it's the little things in life that count" and here are some of those little things.

QUESTION: What is it that you resent most in women???

JACK MEEHAN BROOKLINE, MASS.

That nearness but yet so farness.

HERB ZITER BARRE, VT.

Women, good looking or homely, are too conceited and independent.

PETER MUIER STATEN IS., N.Y.

I despise the fact girls want flowers for dances. The corsages are soon forgotten and aren't seen again until they are thrown in the garbage can the next morning.

BOB PROVENCHER BARTON, VT.

I resent their superiority complex and the fact they think they're always right, also, the cold shoulder given a fellow when his wallet no longer contains money.

CHUCK FLANAGAN NANTUCKET, MASS.

I hate women that gush or talk all the time.

JOE LES SPRINGFIELD, MASS.

One of the common faults of women is the tardiness on dates. There is nothing more annoying than to be standing on a corner waiting impatiently for her arrival.

JERRY HALLINAN PLAINVILLE, CONN.

That "I'm too good for you" instinct embodied in some of the species.

KEN GRIFFIN MANHASSET, L.I., N.Y.

Nothing, I like them!!!

JOHN F. HOAR SPRINGFIELD, MASS.

The way they knock you over with all their gab.

JOHN O'CONNELL DORCHESTER, MASS.

The many women that wear the five and ten cent store perfume.

JOE SHEA SPRINGFIELD, MASS.

I resent the fact that the women are smarter than I am and my inability to cope with the situation.

JERRY MEYERS STAMFORD, CONN.

The trouble with women, generally speaking, is that they are generally speaking.

Ode To a Nurse

Time is precious we'll all agree -
But oh how much so to one of thee.
A month's joy must come in a night -
To our grand ladies dressed in white.

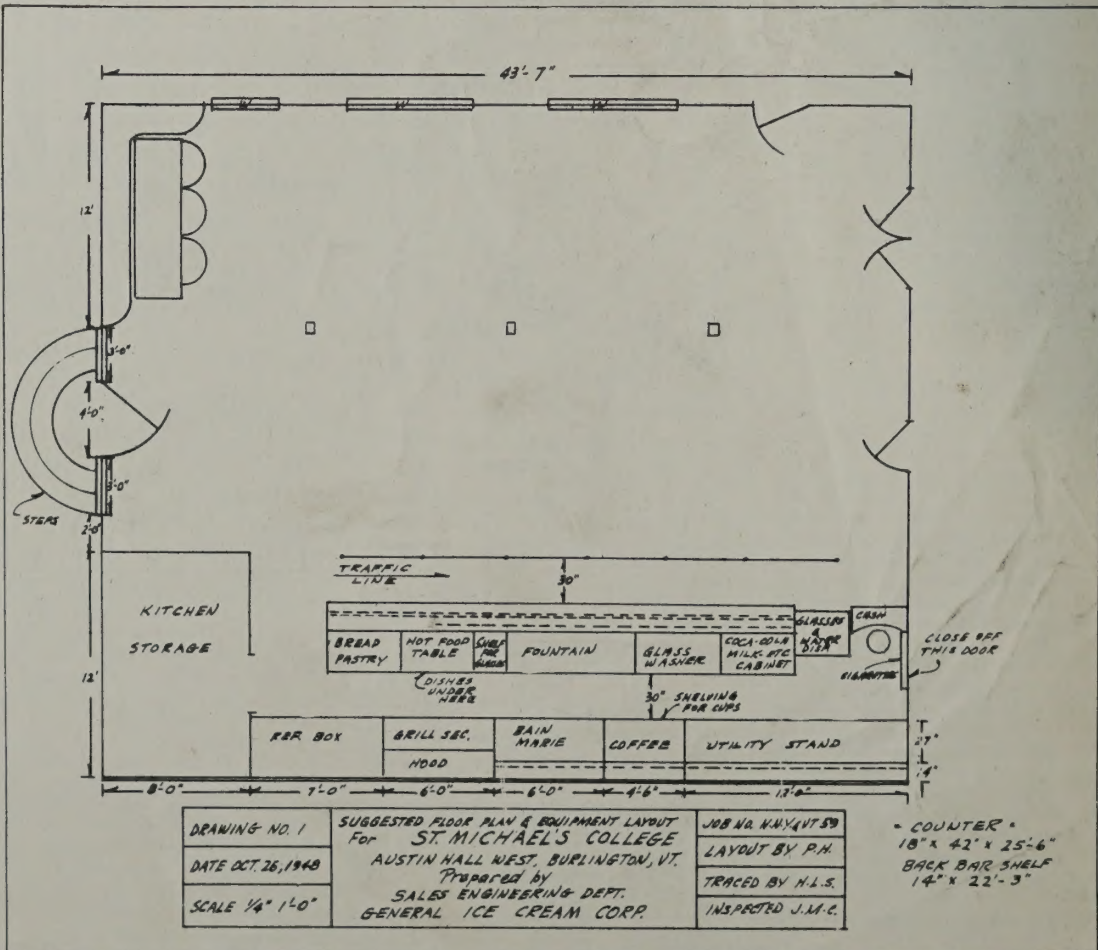

A proud profession is the one you chose -
Not all realize but the one who knows,
Will make it known that it wasn't a hearse
Because of the smiles of a student nurse.

If one could scan every chore
That you must do on every floor,
He would see at not long last - (What's that again?)
The recognition omitted in the past.

All your merits, for many there are Multiply in number while on O.R.
But nothing closer to God could be
Than your valiant service while on O.B.

For you our praises never will stop
As Purple Knights from this Hilltop
Will line the road from here to the diner
Singing "Fanny Allen Nurses couldn't be finer".

NEW SNACK BAR PLAN

HOCKEY NOW IN SPOTLIGHT BEHIND BORGMANN DRIBBLERS

With basketball season crowding football out of the lime-light for another year, the new hockey team will move in closely behind the Borgmann dribblers.

St. Michael's College, after a lapse of two years, will bring hockey into the winter sport schedule under the coaching of Bill Piscione. The rink will be located on the new athletic field.

The athletic field will be inaugurated this winter when the ice is hard and the air is right for the second fastest game in the world, hockey. Coach Piscione will start conditioning possible hockey material following the Thanksgiving vacation.

The last varsity hockey team representing St. Michael's was one of the poorest in the history of the college, dropping five games and tying only one. The team, without practice or rink at the college, tried to make a fair showing but the opposition was too tough.

The Purple Knights of hockey this year will be made up of members of the Winooski Park Collegiates, Vermont, 1947-'48, State Amateur title holders. The Collegiates met and defeated strong Canadian opposition as well as the major Vermont teams. Winning ten games and dropping two was their record. The Collegiates was an informal team made up of St. Michael's College students.

Leo Denault, right winger, and Jerry Healy, former center now spending his time in the goal, are the only members of the 1946-'47 team left on campus. The Collegiates have eight men to try for positions on the college team.

The boards for the new hockey rink are being built by the college carpenters and will be erected some time next week. The boards will be four feet high, high for a rink but Piscione has a method in his madness. The rink will be located directly behind St. Patrick's Hall in the outer gardens of the new baseball field.

Jean Paul Vereneau will divide his time between managing and training the hockey team this year. Vereneau was manager, coach and trainer of the Collegiates last season.

Freshmen will not have a hockey team and will not take part in the varsity sport obeying a National College rule.

Returning from the Collegiates will be the fast Frosh line of Jack Conway, Jack O'Brien and Jim Feloney, and John Paul Trotter, Frank Young, and Jim Whitlock able defensemen and Roy Howland utility.

The hockey schedule: Vermont, Middlebury, Norwich, Paul Smith, Vermont, Middlebury, Norwich, Clarkson, Devens, and St. Lawrence.

Borgmann Talks Scribes Listen

Bennie Borgmann, new St. Michael's College basketball coach, was scheduled to arrive on campus last night and Doc Jacobs had planned to have Borgmann as the topic of discussion for the local scribes.

Borgmann was scheduled to meet with sports reporters from the local newspapers in the College Dining Hall last night.

The new head basketball coach outlined his plans and strategy for the season ahead. Practice will start at the earliest possible date. Borgmann claims the sooner the better.

SM Frosh End Season With 39-0 Victory

by BOB FLANAGAN

The Purple freshmen ended their season on a high note Tuesday.

In an awe inspiring performance the Frosh crunched their way to a 39-0 decision over the Norwich yearlings at Northfield.

With Phil Normandin filling in at quarterback for the injured Art Coggio, the Frosh backfield continued its brilliant work by rolling up a total of 287 yards by all methods. This was 276 more than the Norwich total.

The Squires TD's were registered by Ralph Lucius and Pete Plourde with two apiece and by John Yurasits and Frank Simas who contributed single touchdowns.

It was Plourde's second TD which broke the backs of the Maroon shirted Horsemen. With the Purple leading 12-0 late in the third period, Pete took off on a 47 yard scoring jaunt. Almost the entire Norwich secondary had a shot at the hard running Plourde who simply refused to be brought down as he plowed his way to the end zone. Pete also rushed the point after to give the Squires a 19 point advantage over the unhorsed Horsemen who proceeded to fall apart.

SIMAS TO PROVENZANO

It was sweet revenge for Plourde who had previously had two runs totaling close to 90 yards called back by the refs. Just before the end of the first quarter, his fifty-eight yard scoring effort was recalled because of a holding penalty. Then a few minutes later the refs nullified his 30 yard punt return for clipping.

Six plays later Pete made up for this when he tallied the Squires second TD on a line buck from the half yard mark. This TD was set up by Johnny Provenzano who snagged a Simas pass on the Norwich 40 and fought his way to the ten.

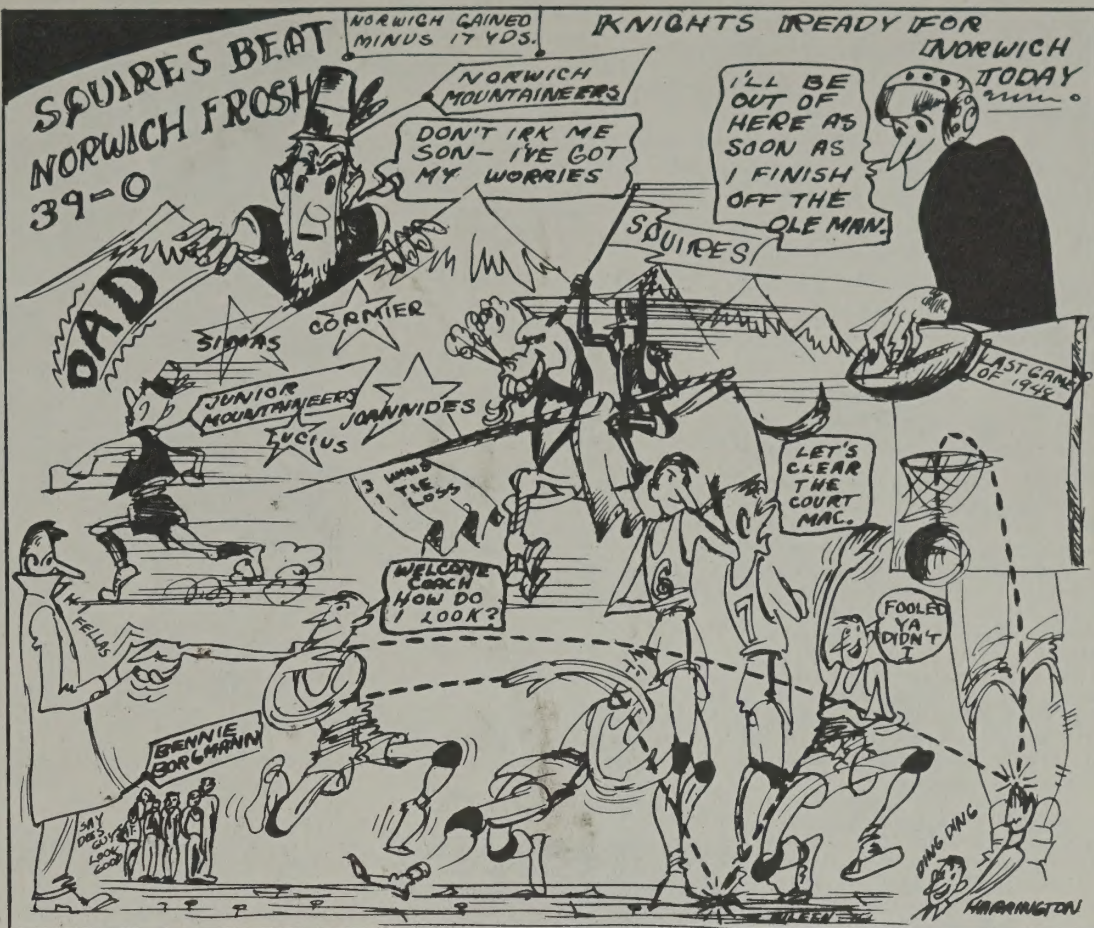

LUCIUS TWICE

The Squires' first and fourth touchdowns were the property of Lucius. In the second and then again in the fourth quarter the speedy Springfield, Vt. back slammed across from one yard out.

With Simas sparking the attack the last two scores came within four plays. Frank whipped a twenty yard pass to Yurasits in the end zone to make the score 32-0. Then when the Maroon fumbled the following kickoff are all in perfect condition for the first time since leaving Camp Holy Cross. Billy Hart's bad leg has responded to treatment and Paul Galarneau's injured shoulder is healed so that both will be ready for heavy duty this afternoon. The rest of the team is fit and raring to avenge last year's defeat.

The Purple Knights will probably be favored to hand the Mountaineers their seventh defeat of the campaign on the basis of the two teams performances against UVM, the only common opponent of the two teams. Norwich lost to the Catamounts 14 to 0 while, as you know, the Knights defeated them 13 to 2.

Probable Starting Line-ups:

S.M.C.	NORWICH
Wojciechowski	LE Holden
Hermans	LT Ellingwood
Whitlock	LG Lait-Co-cpt
Klaess	C Burpee
Ferris-Co-cpt	RG LaRocco
Conboy	RT Finigan
Knight	RE McCarthy
Krupinsky	QB Fsalides
Daly-Co-cpt	LHB DelNigro
Conley	RHB Malley-Co-cpt
Dennis	FB A'Hearn

on their twenty, Simas took over again. He hit Lucius with a ten yard forward and then carried it the rest of the way himself on two running plays.

Bob Kateley converted the points after the Squires fourth and sixth TD's.

Lou Whelan, Al Hannoosh, "Greek" Joannides and Red Shea were outstanding in the line which allowed the Maroon backs a net gain on the ground of minus 17 yards.

SHEA INTERESTING

Red Shea accomplished an interesting feat when he made the tackle on one play... twice. Racing downfield under Lucius' punt, Red creamed the receiver with such authority that he fumbled. Another Maroon back picked up the ball and with a rather disgusted expression on his face, Red reached over and deposited him on the ground beside his teammate.

When the game ended John Houlihan and John O'Connor were alternating in cracks at the Norwich line.

Classes resume Monday, Nov. 29 after Thanksgiving vacation. Double cuts on this day.

Due to an open date last Saturday, the St. Mikes gridders will travel to Northfield today, refreshed and ready for the Horsemen from Norwich University. This is the season's end for the Purple Knights and win or lose, the school in its entirety, is proud of them. The record stands right now at four won and two lost, with the squad going after what should be win number five. Norwich has a pretty poor record this year, but it must be understood that they play a fairly rugged schedule.

Too rugged, perhaps, for the size of the school, and another aspect of their trouble is the amount of injuries they have suffered. However, they always give a good account of themselves, and it would not pay for us to go down there with too cocky an attitude.

UVM - Rochester Tie

So without the Knights to watch last week, we traveled to Centennial Field to witness the Vermont - Rochester tussle. The game wasn't much, but the company was nice. Vermont looks like world beaters at times, but on a few other occasions, last Saturday included, they resemble a bunch of fellows who have never played together before. They should have beat Rochester by at least two touchdowns, but instead had to be satisfied with a 14 - 14 tie.

How the Catamounts could beat teams like Union and New Hampshire, and then kick one out the window to an outfit like Rochester, is more than this department can understand. Union, it might be recalled, has lost only that one game so far this year, while they have beat teams that include powerful Middlebury. On the basis of who beat who, Vermont should take Middlebury this week, but from where we sit, Vermont would be wise to play sick, or out of town, or something.

Hoopsters Hustle

In the absence of newly appointed basketball coach Benny Borgmann, who is due in these parts Wednesday, Coach "Doc" has started the hoopsters on that long and bumpy road to good condition. For the past week and a half, workouts have been nightly in the gym for last years freshman team, and a few of the varsity. Drills have been confined mostly to running up and down the floor in a three man weave, with the "Doc" trying to pump some of that summer-lost wind back into the squads lungs. Must be pretty tough on some of these boys that are getting along in years (roommate take notice), but they say it's experience that wins out in the end.

Witham Returns From Boulder; 150 Present At Reunion

"Come out to Boulder. We want you to see what we've made of ourselves."

A year ago a band of former University of Colorado football players sent this message to their old coach, Professor Myron Witham. Last week Professor Witham went ... and saw.

A hundred and fifty men had come from all over the country, not for a football game (Colorado won) and not for a picnic or a banquet. They had come to show their old coach how they had put his teachings into effect and what they had made of themselves.

Why did they feel this way? Professor Witham had a partial explanation. A football coach he felt is closer to his men than any other teacher or coach. Football has a life-and-death element about it not so evident in other sports.

The real reason goes deeper than this. Mr. Witham's men felt that part of their success in life was due to the lessons he had taught them on the practice field and in the game.

They showed this by presenting Mr. Witham with an album, containing a personal letter from every one of the men. The letters told of little incidents which he had forgotten but which they would always remember.

One of the men recalled a time when Coach Witham had given him a dressing down. The play went off tackle but the half back didn't. He had seen a hole on the other side through which he scooted without interference for a gain of 10 or 15 yards. He thought he was pretty good 'til Coach Witham had a talk with him. Twenty years later the halfback still remembers and follows the coach's advice to follow the team and not go off by himself.

It was the same all the way down the line. The captain of one of Witham's best teams remarked how they had not always seen eye to eye. Witham told him, "Fred, the only thing I ever had against you was your getting a charley-horse at the beginning of the season."

All his men recognized Witham instantly. He guessed he hadn't changed much. As for the players, he recognized them but they had changed. The 150 pound scat back was up around two hundred. The team playboy was a solid citizen in a business suit. But for the most part their personalities were pretty much the same. 90 percent of them were what you could call very successful. The guards and tackles of yesteryear were the doctors and district attorneys of today.

Since Mr. Witham's coaching days many things have changed. The University of Colorado has grown. Even Witham felt the whole institution of football has changed. Once students went to college for an education. Football was part of that education. Now there is danger of some students using the college as a farm club for professional ball. Football he thinks has a proper and important place in any curriculum provided the student doesn't forget the real reason he came to school, to get an education.

Coach Witham's men got an education. They also played football and it was such a brand of football that they were invited to a post season game in Hawaii. Coach Witham's men learned their football from him and they learned much besides. They'll never forget him.

Fr. Bouffard Guest Speaks To Missions

by JAMES MCKOWN

Last Friday, St. Michael's was honored by the visit of Father Maurice Bouffard, who spoke that evening in Austin Hall to the members of the Mission Crusade, a delegation from the Norwich Newman club, and other interested listeners.

Father Bouffard, who graduated from St. Michael's was ordained in Burlington in 1937. He spent seven years in the South doing missionary work in a section of our country where much work needs to be done.

In 1945, as soon as the Germans had been driven from France, Father Bouffard was sent to the town of Pontigny in that land to help rehabilitate the abbey there. He is now attached to St. Mary's Seminary in Randolph, Vermont and a member of the Mission band.

The well traveled priest told his audience interesting and sometimes amusing stories about his work in the South and in France. He praised the work done by the Mission Crusades in past years under Father Lyons, when sorely needed help was given the southern missions.

Seniors Go Modern Lucifer At Large

The final list for the cast and staff of the Senior Class play, LUCIFER AT LARGE, was released this week by the co-directors. The Seniors have gathered some of the best known personalities on campus to appear in this modern morality play.

The moderator of LUCIFER AT LARGE is Rev. E. J. Tining, assistant librarian, now the rector of St. Leo's Hall and director of dramatics at St. Michael's for a number of years.

The co-directors, Vincent Lawless and Lindley Jackson, are well known to upper classmen. Lawless, president of the Knights and Knaves was the managing editor of the defunct Mountain-Ear. Lawless worked with the St. Michael's Summer Theater this past summer. Jackson was editor-in-chief of the Mountain-Ear and was ticket chairman for the Margaret Webster Shakespeare Plays. He received his management training in Maine summer resort hotels.

The cast includes: Bob Billups as Superbe; Joseph Hoffman as You; Lou Bernard as Time; Dick Healy as Fats; and Vin Lawless as Lucifer.

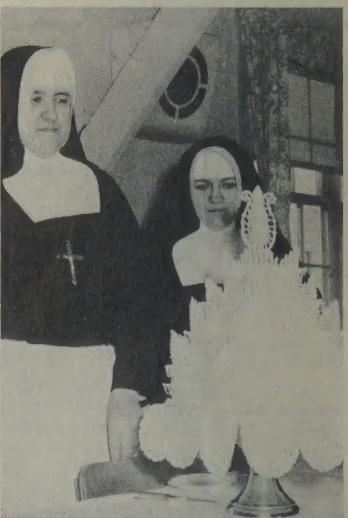

Jim Spillman is stage manager with Walter Fitzmaurice as an associate. Spillman is a cadet teacher at Winooski High, while Fitzmaurice is a popular man on campus.

John Soltys is the light supervisor. Charles McCarthy is wardrobe manager.

The music will be arranged by Jim O'Donnell. The recently elected secretary of the Senior Class, Lou Marceau, is house manager.

Make-up for all four plays is to be under the supervision of the regular Knights and Knaves make-up man, Ralph Glaude. Glaude is a senior and has handled make-up for three years.
